Hapeville Performing Arts Center and the Academy Theatre present April Shows!

April 13th: Gwen Hughes - Jazz of the Soul, 6:30 p.m. Gwen Hughes returns to the Academy Theater! Join us for "Jazz of the Soul," a celebration of the uplifting side of jazz and soul music. Gwen Hughes brings her signature style to timeless classics like What a Wonderful World, Beauty in the World, Grandma's Hands, and more—plus audience requests!

Experience the joy of music that unites and inspires, from jazz standards to soulful takes on beloved hymns. Come sing along and let's shine brighter together!

April 10th-26th: Third Act Dating: A World Premier Play by Gillian Royes, 8 p.m., 3 p.m. & 11 a.m.

When Dee dips her foot back into the dating scene, both her children and those of her suitors fret. Is it ever too late for romance, and can anyone tell you whom not to love?

April 27th: Susan Butler & Easy Living: Soirée de Jazz, 6:30 p.m. With a velvety, smoky vocal style and an ear for the poetic, jazz vocalist Susana Butler brings an intimate, transportive experience to the Academy Theatre.

Southern Circuit Tour of Independent Filmmakers

The screening for the April 11th film is North Putnam (run time: 90 minutes), is directed by Joel Fendelman and produced by Beth Benedix.

North Putnam depicts a year in the life of a rural Indiana school district and the community it serves. Crafted with empathy, a hyper-real reporting lens, and skillfully lush cinematography, the film aims to reach across divides and to spark action-oriented conversations about the interdependence between public schools and community development.

Visit the North Putnam film website for more information or call (404) 669-8269
